Issue 130: Friday 24th November 2017

Message from Julia Vincent, Headteacher

I am delighted to inform you that today we have taken ownership of our new kitchen. This is going to make such a difference in our ability to cater for both students and staff and I know that our new catering team are really looking forward to start work in their new facility.

My grateful appreciation go to both the catering and site team who are working this weekend to ensure we are ready for breakfast on Monday morning. Please do remember that your child can have breakfast as well as dinner at school.

On a similar note, we do expect the dining hall to be busy on Monday, so please ensure you have topped up your child's account.

Apprentice and Graduate Opportunities Event

Tue 12 and Wed 13 Dec 2017
Portsmouth Naval Base

BAE Systems is one of the largest employers of graduates and apprentices in the UK, with more than 2,500 currently in training across the business.

Working for a company that provides some of the world's most advanced, technology-led defence, aerospace and security solutions, successful applicants will have the chance to work on projects that will change history.

Electrical or mechanical engineering, fabrication, project management...there are a wide range of possibilities.

From day one they will be earning a competitive salary at the same time as learning skills for life. And, if they're not yet sure about which apprenticeship or graduate programme is right for them, they could apply for our summer internship or work experience placements to gain some insight into their potential career path.

To attend the event on Tuesday 12th and Wednesday 13th December 6pm-8pm you can register for a session by emailing skillscentre.admin@baesystems.com

At the event, you will be able to hear from apprentices and graduates past and present about what life is like at BAE Systems and find out more about the fantastic opportunities available. You'll also be able to try your hands at lots of fun, interactive activities.

Should you wish to find out more, please visit

<http://www.baesystems.com/en-uk/careers/careers-in-the-uk> or contact Sam Smith on 03300 471465.
