Issue 167: Friday 16th November 2018

Warblington
School

Message from Mike Hartnell, Headteacher

This week Year 11's have completed their final week of Pre Public Exams (PPEs). This is the first real opportunity to see how they perform under exam conditions. We are planning to give the students their results on 30th November, but most importantly, it will give them detailed feedback of their areas to concentrate on before the next set of PPEs. It is worth noting that there is a revision workshop on Wednesday 28th November for year 11 parents to come and see some practical ways to help your child revise and I look forward to meeting some of you there.

In other news, there has been some good work on our tutor group community projects this week, culminating in a non-uniform day today. I look forward to sharing more details of this once the projects are complete. Continuing with the charity theme, next week we have a team of staff who will be completing the Hell Run, led by Mr Ashcroft, raising money for Rowan's Hospice. If you wish to donate, the just giving page is <https://www.justgiving.com/teams/warbo>.

Finally, I can only apologise for the facial hair of some of the male staff who are partaking in 'Movember'. Many students are asking about why the staff are growing moustaches, raising awareness of men's health, which as one member of staff commented, if it makes a difference to one person then it's had an impact.

Have a good weekend.

The Hell Run 2018

Eight members of Warblington School staff will be taking part in the Hell Run to raise money for the Rowans Hospice. As the name suggests, they will be taking part in a 10 mile hellish run which includes slipping, climbing, sliding and swimming through mud, rivers and over hills and rugged terrain. To sponsor the team please visit:

Digital Leaders

At Warblington School, we now have a wonderful group of Year 7 'Digital Leaders'. After a very rigorous application process plus a formal interview, these students have been selected because of their beliefs about E-safety and passion for Computing. Their job will be to promote the importance of E-safety around our school community including in our local primary schools. Their role will include fixing technical issues that occur around the school building and trialling new technologies before they enter the classroom environment. Each week, they will be sending out a different message on the school newsletter to share with staff and students!

Taylor Daltry 7B, Jack Cole 7B, Jack Smith 7C, Lily Barlow 7B, Peter Chalcraft 7A, Matthew James 7A, Christopher Aldworth 7B, Megan Rawlinson 7A, Ollie King 7B and Tilly Wilgeroth 7C
