Issue 235: Friday 13th November 2020

Message from The Editor, Miss Barker

'On Wednesday 11th November we observed Remembrance Day, along with the rest of UK, considering the sacrifice and service of military personnel though the years and also people who have gone above and beyond during the current pandemic.

Maisy R Year 9 marked the day in a special way by painting beautiful stones for teachers accompanied by cards explaining that she made the stones to symbolise remembrance poppies. The teachers lucky enough to receive this beautiful gifts were very grateful.' Miss Pritchard, History

BEBRAS Competition

This week and last week, Year 7, 8 and 10 Computer Science students entered the BEBRAS competition. The BEBRAS competition is a national competition where students have to use their computational thinking skills to solve problems and puzzles. Each student will get a certificate upon completion. In previous years, any students that are in the top 3% of the country were invited to the next round at Oxford University and the top 20% of the country went through to the next round at school.

I have to commend the attitude of 8G/CN1 who used their break time to complete the challenge.

Well done! Mr Godfrey, Teacher of ICT & Computing

Warblington's New Trees

This week our Junior Tree Wardens have been planting the trees we received from the Woodland Trust. With over 400 saplings to plant, it's a big job but the Tree Wardens have made a brilliant start! They went out in their year group bubbles and learnt about the tree planting process, below you can see pictures of Maddy B and Ajay B from Year 8 planting with Mrs Rason and Mr Whittle. Keep up the brilliant work everyone!

Year 8 Art

Year 8 were asked to design and create their own lollipop trees inspired by the work of Friedrich Hundertwasser, who they have been studying in class. Here are some examples of their work below. Well done to you all! Mr Whitlock, Art

Hawthorn Tree Fact Sheet

- Latin name: Crataegus Monogyna
- Height when mature: 10-14m (33-46ft) - standard
- Height after 10 years: 3m (10ft)

Hawthorn Wildlife Rating

Hawthorn is a key wildlife tree, providing food for many species, including Duke of Burgundy butterflies, yellow-tail moths, hawthorn shield-bugs as well as being the food plant of the Magpie and Lackey moths.

The larvae of the Small Eggar develop webs in which clumps of caterpillars live on its leaves.

Hawthorn flowers have a sweet smell which is particularly attractive to flies, which can often be seen buzzing around them in spring.

How to Grow Hawthorn

Hawthorn trees need full sun and well-drained soil. They tolerate almost any type of soil and variations in ph. Set the trees out in spring so they'll have a full season to become established before winter.

In large settings they look great in groups, and they are pretty enough to stand alone as specimens in small gardens. Although they make great lawn and street trees, avoid planting thorny varieties where children play or where pedestrians pass. The thorns are fierce, and can be as much as three inches (7.5 cm.) long.

Water the trees during dry spells for the first year. Afterward, they are drought resistant.

Additional Hawthorn Care

Hawthorn trees need little pruning. Remove suckers that arise from the base of the trunk. You can trim the canopy, if necessary, to keep it looking neat. Make cuts just beyond a lateral twig or bud that faces the direction in which you want the branch to grow. You might want to make routine spraying a part of your hawthorn tree care plan. Hawthorns are bothered by lace bugs, aphids, mites and scale, and these insects can get out of control unless you treat them early. Use a lightweight horticultural oil early in the season. You can damage the tree by spraying with horticultural oils at the wrong time, so read the label instructions carefully before spraying. Use a general-purpose spray labelled for Hawthorn Trees later in the season.
